Onsite Contest Environment and Problem Set

Problem set was designed under the guidance of world finalist and judge Shahriar Manzoor and Mahmudur Rahman. The following panelist worked for the review of the problem set:

Problems Review & Selection Panel:

- Derek Kisman, Translattice, USA (ACM ICPC World Finals Gold Medalist and World Finals Judge 2004-2013).
- Rujia Liu, Eryiju, China (ACM ICPC World Finals Gold Medalist).
- Jane Alam Jan, Google, USA (ACM ICPCWorld Finalist 2009).
- Sohel Hafiz, University of Texas at San Antonio, USA (ACM ICPC World Finalist 2008).
- Shahriar Manzoor, Southeast University (President, BAPS).

Problemsetting Panel (Members of the panel above included):

- K. M. Hasan, Southeast University (Member of Elite Problemsetters' Panel of UVa OJ).
- Abdullah al Mahmud, University of Central Florida (ACM ICPC World Finalist 2005).
- Mohammad Mahmudur Rahman, Mukto Software Ltd (Vice President, BAPS).
- Tanaeem M. Moosa, Google, USA (ACM ICPC World Finalist 2009, 2010).
- Md. Towhidul Islam Talukder, SDSL (Problemsetter of Different National Contests and Regional Contests) (Only involved with Dhaka Site Preliminary Contest).

ACM-ICPC Dhaka 2012 problem set had 11 problems and teams attempted to solve problems. Contestant received balloon by the balloon volunteers for successful solution. The team also received extra big balloon for the first solution. Maximum 7 problems got solved by 2 teams and the solution statistics is shown below:
Rejudgment of Problem I:
Due to a non-trivial bug in both the judge solutions of problem I, the judges had to rejudge all the submissions of problem I. After re-judging the rank of the following teams improved or penalty was reduced:

- DU Angry Birds (From 12th to 6th place) (6 <- 12)
- BUET Raikiri (From 33rd to 16th place)
- EWU Agrodut (From 13th to 10th place)
- BUET Variables (From 14th to 11th place)
- DU Assault Everyone (From 19th to 18th place)
- BUET Choker (Their rank remained same but penalty reduced)
- NSU Ardent (Their penalty was reduced)

In the prize giving ceremony, top 20 teams were given prize. So after re-judging all the submissions of problem I, the policy is maintained so that the rank of no team should worsen after re-judgement (Similar to what was done after re-judgement in World Finals 2000).

Some General Comments

All our sponsors and partners played active role in making ACM-ICPC Dhaka 2012 a grand success. The hardware partner helped enormously to facilitate necessary laptops and other required hardware. The network partner provided all the necessary switches and technical support to lay down network in GBR.
The TechTalk speakers along with the participation in fun events and the games on the cloud by Mr Das Nobel of CloudSpokes.com were exciting too.

The sweet little boys and girls from Daffodil International School played the role of balloon volunteers and it was really a cheerful moment for them to giveaway balloon to the winning teams. The system people specially under the leadership of Nadir Bin Ali, the systems committee chair, worked relentlessly to make the entire contest system flawless.

The ACM-ICPC Dhaka 2012 volunteers, the red t-shirt, worked round the clock and supported all the events of the day both in GBR and utshab area. They performed to their best and received accord from the attendees.

The Air Rover unit of Daffodil International University gave additional support to the success of ACM-ICPC Dhaka 2012.

Event Feedback

The feedback from all the sponsors and support partners, coaches, contestants, techTalk speakers etc. were good and remarkable. We are happy that we were able to successfully conduct this international prestigious contest, and look forward to conducting many more such events with the ICPC global family.
